

It's time to end pension theft

It's time to end pension theft

Canadians rely on their pensions so they can retire with dignity. But when large corporations fail, they use Canada's inadequate bankruptcy laws to take the money meant for their employees' pensions, and use it to pay off wealthy CEOs, banks and investors.

Justin Trudeau campaigned on improving retirement security for Canadians, but has refused to solve the problem. They're choosing their wealthy insider friends over hardworking people.

The NDP is calling on the Liberals to fix the bankruptcy laws that let large corporations put shareholders, banks, and creditors ahead of their employees when they file for bankruptcy protection.

Are we on the right track? YES NO

NAME

ADDRESS

POSTAL CODE

PHONE NUMBER

EMAIL

BIRTHDAY (MM/DD/YYYY)

no postage
required

Scott Duvall
Member of Parliament

House of Commons
Ottawa, ON
K1A 0A6

Canadians rely on their pensions so they can retire with dignity. But when large corporations fail, they use Canada's inadequate bankruptcy laws to take the money meant for their employees' pensions, and use it to pay off wealthy CEOs, banks and investors.

Justin Trudeau campaigned on improving retirement security for Canadians, but has refused to solve the problem. They're choosing their wealthy insider friends over hardworking people.

The NDP is calling on the Liberals to fix the bankruptcy laws that let large corporations put shareholders, banks, and creditors ahead of their employees when they file for bankruptcy protection.

Are we on the right track? YES NO

NAME

ADDRESS

POSTAL CODE

PHONE NUMBER

EMAIL

BIRTHDAY (MM/DD/YYYY)

no
postage
required

Scott Duvall
Member of Parliament

House of Commons
Ottawa, ON K1A 0A6